

Digital Publishing. Today already, for tomorrow.

Forward Publishing addresses the changes in digital newsrooms.

Forward Publishing enables publishing companies to have a smooth transition and transformation to an extensive digital content workflow with a set of highly approved integrated products. You get a solid yet continuously evolving foundation for a sustainable, intelligent, digital, mobile-first subscription model.

All products for decentralised newsrooms of today. And tomorrow.

Forward Publishing empowers and supports all modern, distributed and continuous processes of content creation and publishing on various channels. With the right products your decisions become more directed. Here intuition and well-founded information come together perfectly.

Two companies, one mission.

Forward Publishing emerges from the many years of experience Netcetera and Livingdocs have in developing modern publishing solutions. They have developed various publishing products for the NZZ Media Group and other large publishers.

netcetera

As a leading Swiss software company, Netcetera supports its customers worldwide with trend-setting products and custom software. They cover the entire IT service lifecycle, from strategy to implementation and operation.

www.netcetera.com

livingdocs

Livingdocs was founded in 2015. The product of the same name has quickly found acceptance in the media industry thanks to its unique usability and today supports over 1000 journalists in Switzerland, Germany and Luxembourg in their daily work.

www.livingdocs.io

«Forward Publishing perfectly embraces the concepts that a modern publisher is in need of. Forward Publishing's core solutions are in use at Swisscom and are tried and proven.»

– Cyrill Treptow, Head of Bluewin

Visit our website for detailed info

www.forward-publishing.com

Let's get in touch

info@forward-publishing.com