Netcetera Mobile Banking

Everywhere, anytime, all-you-need banking

With Netcetera Mobile Banking, your customers can carry out all common banking transactions conveniently and at any time using their smartphones (iOS and Android). Our comprehensive addition complements your bank's internet banking and completes your existing B2C channel strategy.

Netcetera Mobile Banking makes it easy for your customers to keep an overview of their assets. Make payments; green-light e-bills; set up and change standing orders; and place stock exchange orders right from the smartphone. If the need arises to contact you directly, your customer will find all branches and ATMs, their addresses and opening times, as well as all emergency numbers right within the app.

Our solution is tightly integrated into the existing internet banking security infrastructure — it's safe and convenient at the same time. And as with any app, your bank is prominently present in today's major app stores.

The challenge: mobile customers seek access to your bank services

In internet banking, you already provide your customers with the possibility of flexibly executing banking transactions from the comfort of their homes.

As a contemporary financial institution, you wish to offer your customers a similarly powerful and convincing service on their smartphones as well.

The solution: a smooth and secure experience for all your common bank transactions

Netcetera Mobile Banking provides a comprehensive overview of assets, through to account and custody accounts statements. Customers fill in payment orders on the phone quickly with the integrated scanner. They trade securities, manage their e-bills and place standing orders, all through one app.

Our solution is integrated into the existing internet banking security infrastructure. This allows for the highest possible security combined with high ease of use and ubiquity of today's mobile devices, without the need for additional infrastructure build up.

Make sure your mobile banking app delivers your bank's customer experience by tuning it to match your corporate identity. Update news, addresses, emergency numbers easily and independent of any app release cycle.

Netcetera Mobile Banking is highly configurable — you pick and choose the functionality that fits your channel strategy. Are you planning to soon add PFM to your offering as well? We've already got you covered.
